WHITE ROCK Lithia Water

A little higher in price than many so-called mineral waters, but infinitely superior. There's nothing too good for Victorians; they should not put up with an inferior water, but should insist upon being supplied with this deliciously cooling, natural Mineral Water, which is certified by leading analysts as absolutely pure.

White Rock is a sparkling tonic; as a dilutant for milk, wine or whiskey it is unexcelled.

Ask for it at your club, restaurant or hotel. Order a case for home consumption, but be sure to see that you are supplied with the genuine "White Rock."

BRIAND CHOSEN FOR PREMIER

Prominent Socialist Leader Entrusted With French Government

MAY RECONSTRUCT OLD CABINET

Rapid Rise of Radical Politician Typical of Modern France

Paris, July 22.—Arisande Briand, brilliant scholar, orator and avowed socialist and architect of the final chapters of the separation law, was summoned to the Elysee Palace to-night and asked to reconstruct the Clemenceau cabinet.

M. Briand promised his answer tomorrow. The shifting of some of the portfolios and the retention of all the ministers except M. Piquart, Picard and Millerand, ministers of war, the navy and colonies respectively, is now anticipated. Considerable opposition to M. Briand has developed, especially among the more conservative senators and radicals, who dominate the party of Republican majority, on the ground that the selection of a socialist at the head of the government would be equivalent to proclaiming the bankruptcy of the radical side.

Predictions are freely made in some quarters tonight that M. Briand would fall in his efforts to form a ministry which can command a majority. Should Briand succeed in forming a cabinet, as his friends believe he will, the tendency of the new ministry will be distinctly more socialist than those of the outgoing cabinet. M. Briand is opposed to the dissolution of the revolutionary general faction of labor, which Clemenceau favored, and Barthou, minister of public works and E. Jand Viviani, minister of labor, have championed socialist doctrines.

The Briand cabinet would be exceedingly offensive to the money classes. The conservatives, however, believe that the Briand cabinet would be short-lived. Arisande Briand, who will probably be the next prime minister of France, is 47 years old. He has risen very rapidly from the ranks of politicians to a foremost place in the government, being elevated in 1904 to the post of minister of public works and instruction. During the church and state troubles he appears to have acted with firmness and moderation. Later he was appointed minister of justice, retaining the portfolio of worship.

STORM'S HAVOC

Eighteen Lives Lost and Much Property Destroyed by Great Gale in Texas

Galveston, Texas, July 22.—As if from the bottom of the sea, five of the storm victims from the Tarpon fishing pier were picked up alive late today in the upper Galveston Bay. They were found clinging to pieces of drift wood, and were in an exhausted condition. With the report of the rescue of these five men, hope for the safety of the other five persons, who it was believed lost their lives in the storm, is much stronger, although it is feared that the others may have succumbed to the ordeal of 24 hours in the water.

Houston, Texas, July 22.—The hurricane which swept the Texas Gulf coast yesterday caused the sacrifice of 18 human lives, fatal injuries to four other persons, and serious wounding of sixteen, according to the full details of results of the storm, which began to arrive here tonight. Small towns were devastated. The damage to property will amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars.

CONGRESS INDIFFERENT

No Financial Encouragement for Enthusiastic Aerial Navigators

Washington, D.C., July 22.—The United States is not likely to make great progress in aerial navigation during the next fiscal year as a result of any encouragement offered inventors by Congress. The spirit of economy in governmental affairs is now so pronounced as to discourage even the asking for funds by the war department for the purchase of any class of airships. The board of ordnance of the army now has $45,000 for airship experiments, $25,000 of which is to be paid to the Wright brothers if they succeed in making a flight of ten miles at the rate of thirty-six miles an hour carrying one person besides the operator, and $20,000 to A. M. Hering if he makes practically similar requirements. This will be the end of experimental work unless some interest in aerial navigation is shown by Congress in the form of a liberal appropriation.

A NEW TRUNK MYSTERY

Body of an Armenian Gives Lynn Police a Puzzle

Lynn, Mass., July 22.—The body of a man packed in a trunk was found by a chambermaid in a Liberty street rooming house today. The body had a bullet wound over the heart. The face was mutilated, but the body has been partially identified as that of an Armenian, known as Frank Jones, who had rented the room about a month ago. The proprietor of the house and the police are completely mystified by the discovery.

ON G. T. PACIFIC

Passenger Train Service Between Winnipeg and Edmonton to Be Started

Winnipeg, July 22.—Plans are fast maturing for the commencement of the Grand Trunk Pacific service of passenger trains from Winnipeg to Edmonton, and it is announced that the service will start on August 15. The latest word from the west is to the effect that the steel will reach the Pembina river by the end of September, and the line will be open this fall right through to that point, carrying passengers 70 miles west of Edmonton.

E. J. Chamberlain, vice-president and general manager, left last evening for Fort William and the east, and on his return will make a trip of inspection over the work at Prince Rupert.

MISSIONARY STEAMER SUNK

"Udal" Goes to the Bottom and Captain and Pilot Have Close Call

Vancouver, July 22.—The Methodist missionary boat Udal, returning to Prince Rupert from Portland Canal, struck a rock and foundered. Captain Oliver and Rev. Mr. Webber had a close call and escaped in a row-boat. The Udal sank in 100 feet of water. Efforts will be made to raise her. The vessel was insured and valued at $5,000.

Grand Trunk President. Liverpool, July 22.—Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, president of the Grand Trunk Railway, sailed today for Canada and will go over the completed Grand Trunk Pacific from Port Arthur to Edmonton before he returns to England.

OMINENT ELKS VISITING CITY

Hundred Members of Order Arrive From Los Angeles Convention

One hundred Elks, members of one of the most influential fraternal societies in the United States, arrived in the city last evening on a tour, which when completed, will have lasted 32 days and extended over 14,000 miles. Among the visitors are many prominent men of the city, a majority of them being members of Yonkers lodge, B. P. O. E. No. 707, which has just concluded its annual convention at Los Angeles.

The Elks, a fraternal order confined to the United States has 100 lodges and a total membership of 500,000. Its motto is: "We write our brother's failings in the sand; his virtues are engraved on the marble tablets of love and memory."

The mother lodge of the Elks is in New York city and in the personnel of the party which arrived here yesterday were John J. Donohue, a prominent member of this lodge, a boss of the Tammany ring, and harbor master of New York. Another interesting New Yorker was Capt. Charles Scheubner, a pilot who has often guided the big trunk levitons Leitch and Maurelaine, as well as other great Atlantic liners from outside Sandyhook to their berths at the New York wharves.

The most prominent among the other visitors are: John T. Werner, of Pottsville, Pa., a past exalted ruler of the Elks; T. Morris, of Yonkers, N.Y., a past exalted ruler; T. Curtis Gardner, of Rochester, N.Y., a past exalted ruler; John McMahon, of Meriden, Conn., a past exalted ruler; C. A. Noble, of Lyons, N.Y., a past exalted ruler; J. C. Sheehy, of Gettysburg, Pa., a past exalted ruler; W. B. Henderson, of Troy, N.Y., a past exalted ruler; H. Ball, of Mahoning City, Penn., president of the First National Bank; Charles Frank, of Syracuse, N.Y., president of the Zett Brewing Co.; W. B. Zimmer, of Rochester, N.Y., assistant district attorney of Monroe County; and J. Rehili of White Plains, N.Y., editor of the White Plains Argus.

The party which is traveling by special train throughout their whole itinerary has already visited the following places: Chicago, Omaha, Denver, Colorado Springs, Manitou, Salt Lake City, Yellowstone Park, San Bernardino, Riverside, Los Angeles, Pasadena, Santa Barbara, Santa Monica, Paso Robles, Del Monte, Santa Jose, Santa Cruz, Shasta Springs, Portland and Seattle.

From Victoria they will go to Vancouver and passing from there through the Rockies they will stop over at Glacier and Banff and go thence to St. Paul and Minneapolis and so homeward.

At the different places that they touch they have been the recipients of the utmost hospitalities by the brother lodges. Los Angeles, where the convention was held, was profusely decorated, electric floats and arches being features, the entertainment costing several hundred thousand dollars.

The Yonkers convention next year will be held at Detroit; Boston will probably be selected for 1911, while both New York and Portland, Ore., are striving to have the convention held in their respective cities in 1912.

The visiting Elks will leave today by the afternoon boat for Vancouver. They express themselves as highly pleased with their visit to Victoria and are loud in their praises of the genial character of the Empress hotel where a number are staying during their visit.

J. Pierpont Morgan

New York, July 22.—J. P. Morgan, who arrived from Europe last night, visited his offices this afternoon, but denied himself to all interviewers. In reply to all inquiries as to the probable issue of a statement relative to U. S. Steel Corporation affairs Mr. Morgan sent out word that no such statement would be issued.

EXPLORING FOR ROUTE

Canadian Northern Party Now at Summit at Yellow-head

OTHERS WORK DOWN ALONG FRASER

Nearly One Hundred Men Engaged in Survey for C. N. Railway

Vancouver, July 22.—Word was received in the city today that the Hamilton survey party, one of four which the Canadian Northern Railway company has actively at work on its line to the coast, has reached the summit close to the Yellowhead pass. This summit was its objective point when it made its recent start from Kamloops. They have endured many hardships. Many of the rivers in this district are still in flood, while the available trails are few.

There are thirty men in this party, the largest of all the four. It will now the summit now begin its real work of mapping the route, meeting a little later the second party, now on the North Thompson, and working northward with its surveys.

Of the other two parties, the one which has been working down from Lytton on the east bank of the Fraser river, has reached Keefer, while the other, which has been working up from Yale on the same side of the stream, is nearing North Bend. October will likely see the work completed. There are nearly a hundred men in the four parties.

OTTAWA ROBBERS

Two Men in Custody Who Are Thought to Have Rifled Jewelry Store

Ottawa, July 22.—The diamond robbers arrested for the sensational Sparks street thefts arrived in Ottawa tonight in charge of detectives this evening and were immediately transferred to the cells. The accused, it is learned, have practically admitted their connection with the theft, but had absolutely nothing to say when questioned at the station. The prisoner giving his name as A. O. Woods, of Kingston, is a slight, dark-haired young man of about 30 years of age. His companion, who calls himself F. W. Conrad, of Ottawa, is taller than the other prisoner. Both are clean shaven and very well dressed. The prisoners were apparently in good spirits, and smoked cigarettes incessantly. On Wednesday night they pleaded for morphine, but the craving for the drug seems to have abated, and last evening the men were much brighter. They will be arraigned and remanded for a week in order to permit the police to if possible, recover the missing diamond rings.

FERRY IN DANGER ON COLUMBIA

Party of Passengers on Trail Ferry in Peril Because of Cable Breaking

Trail, B. C., July 22.—An accident, which might have been attended with serious results, happened to the Trail ferry across the Columbia river, this morning, about 7:30 o'clock, and furnished a thriller, not only for the passengers, but also for those who were in a position to witness the mishap. S. F. McKay, who has been operating the ferry for the past week, undertook to take C. L. Merry and a load of supplies across the river. All went well until midstream was reached, when the large cable snapped, and allowed the ferry and its occupants to drift down stream. Their cries attracted attention, and several started in pursuit in small boats.

Fortunately the smaller cable attached to the trolley dragged to the bottom of the river, and thus detained the progress of the ferry in its wild dash down the Columbia, and also had a tendency to swing the ferry to the north shore. With the assistance of the small boats, a landing was made about a mile below the city, and the occupants, save for an exciting ten minutes, were uninjured.

It is fortunate that a landing was made, as had the ferry gone a short distance further down the river it would have been dashed to pieces on the rocks of Rock Island, where the strongest swimmer could not hope to survive. The throwing off of communication between the thriving settlements to the south and east of the city will undoubtedly work hardships on the settlers, and it is earnestly hoped by all that an early commencement will be made on the proposed wagon bridge across the Columbia river at Rock Island. In view of the proposed agitation for the new bridge it is very improbable that any effort will be made to save the ferry, and also the great expense incurred in putting in a new cable.

Essaying Channel Flight.

Dover, July 22.—Hubert Latham and M. Bleriot will make an attempt to cross the Channel in their aeroplanes tomorrow. The weather was not favorable today.

A NEW DEPARTURE

National Financial Enterprise Now Backed By Diplomatic Prestige

Pekin, July 22.—The personal telegram sent by President Taft to Prince Chun, the Chinese regent, in behalf of the American claim for equal participation in the Hankow Sze-chuen railroad loan of $27,500,000, has created a sensation among the foreign bankers and members of the legations here. The legations concerned affirm that the loan question until now was not recognized diplomatically but the impression prevails that the matter now becomes political. The German financiers threaten to break the concert of bankers.

FOR PRINCE RUPERT RUN

Historic Steamer Zafaro to Ply Between Railway Terminals

Seattle, July 22.—The Collier Zafaro, purchased at a holdup price by Admiral Levey prior to the battle of Manila Bay, and sold for $2,500 to a Chicago company after being condemned by the Government, has been shifted to Smith Cove from the navy yard at Bremerton, and will be fitted up for passenger trade between Vancouver and Prince Rupert by A. Z. Zeeve.

U. S. Tariff Sentiment

Washington, July 22.—Representative Stafford, of Milwaukee, and Representative Perkins, of Rochester, representing two of the great manufacturing cities of the country, called on the president today and told him that the majority of the house was with him. "We had better have a good bill and a late adjournment rather than a bad bill and early adjournment," Mr. Perkins told the president, who seemed to think the sentiment a good one.

CITY TO APPLY TO COMMISSIONERS

E. & N. Railway Bridge Difficulty Will Be Carried to Highest Court

The city will appeal to the Railway Commission for a ruling in respect to the right, or otherwise, of the E. & N. Railway company to close the company's bridge across the harbor to public for the use of the city. This step was decided upon at the special meeting of the city council held last evening, when some additional evidence in support of the city's claim that the bridge, when first projected, was intended not only for use as a railway bridge, but was also intended as a public highway was adduced. When the trouble first arose, Mayor Hall wrote to the company suggesting that some temporary arrangement might be made whereby, pending a definite solution of the difficulty, a right of way for the public could be arranged to be used as yet been received from the company.

Additional Data.

In the meantime the city has been looking for evidence to uphold its claim that when the bridge was projected it was intended as a public highway. In addition to the reported statement made by the late Mr. Dunsmyth that it was the intention of the company to allow public traffic across the bridge, another link in the city's chain of evidence has been unearthed. It is a copy secured from Ottawa of a report made by H. F. Perley, then chief engineer of the roads and bridges department of the government of Canada relative to the E. & N. bridge. The report, dated August 12, 1887, reads as follows:

"Sir,—With reference to the application of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway company for permission to erect a bridge across the harbor of Victoria, B. C. in accordance with a plan submitted in file No. 79,497, I have to state that the bridge in question is intended to accommodate both railway and highway traffic; that it will to a certain extent hinder the free use of the upper portion of the harbor, which I may state is not of such importance as the lower portion; and that it appears by a certain resolution of the municipal council of the city of Victoria that there is not any objection to the construction of the bridge on the site proposed (see file No. 78,983) on the part of the civic authorities."

"The harbor of Victoria is owing to a want of depth, only available for vessels of comparatively small size and draught, and the site selected by the company leaves the best portion of the harbor free and accessible at all times for such craft as can enter, and a bridge on said site will not obstruct in any way the use of such portion."

"I have, therefore, to recommend for favorable consideration by the Honorable the Minister the application thus made."

Ruling For Commission

In consequence of the above report and the evidence which the city has secured an application will be made to the railway commission for a ruling on the question of the right of the public to use the bridge. The commissioners are expected to be here next month, when the city's claim will be presented.

A deputation from the Inner Harbor Association was present at last night's special meeting of the council to urge that the city take some steps particularly with regard to the question of the interruption of navigation by the failure of the company to swing the bridge at such times as will permit of the passage of boats, scows and boats of logs. The point was made that as the company now operates the bridge, great delays occur, and very often ships being delayed when, were they allowed to proceed, a favorable tide could be secured and much time and money saved. The deputation consisted of Thomas C. Sorby, secretary of the Inner Harbor Association, Joseph Sayward, Capt. Grant, J. McGregor and J. K. Robbeck.

COAL FIGHT IN CAPE BRETON

Provincial Attorney General Writes for Instruction of Magistrates

COMPANY ASSERTS HEADWAY IN CONTEST

Production for Yesterday Is Slightly Smaller Than in Previous Day

Gloucester, July 22.—In response to the request of the Dominion Coal Company's solicitor, the attorney-general has written a letter to the magistrates at Gloucester. After rectifying the complaint contained in the letter of the company's solicitor, the latter goes on to say:

"Your attention is called to this matter, not because of any complaint made against you personally, but that in the interests of justice you may discourage any such proceedings. Before a criminal charge is brought, it is ascertained by any magistrate acting as a peace officer, it should be carefully investigated, and under the circumstances detailed action should be delayed until the charge on which the person is held is adjudicated upon. After this it is proper to make a charge against a peace officer for making such arrest. Otherwise the charges have the appearance of having been made simply in retaliation. The department will be greatly obliged to you if you will instruct anyone desiring to lay information for arrest under such circumstances as those detailed above, that the laying of such information should be delayed until adjudication by the first magistrate."

"We wish you to assist the department in every way possible so that the administration of the criminal law may not be brought into disrepute." Justice McCulloch, who seems to have been specially complained of, has replied, and repels the insinuation that he has allowed the criminal law to be brought into disrepute, and asserts that he has administered justice in good faith and without regard to the wishes of contending parties.

The Dominion Coal Company gives out that 10,000 tons was today's output from the mines and banks. It is reported that 275 men went down in No. 2 today. Forty-two men were brought from the outside and taken into the Reserve mine this afternoon. A slight falling off in yesterday's output as compared with that of the day before was reported by the coal company. Yesterday's production was 8,945 tons, compared with 9,100 tons the previous day. The slight falling off, the company says, was due to a number of men at the Dominion and Reserve mines not showing up the day following a picnic they attended. The conditions at the collieries are reported by the company as continually improving, and the output today seems to show this to be the case. More men have reported for work, and more are expected to arrive tomorrow.

Alleged Gamblers

Paris, July 22.—An alleged band of American professional gamblers have been arrested on the charge of card swindling on a huge scale. American and English guests at the fashionable watering places were the victims. Quantities of marked cards and apparatus for swindling the gamblers were found in their possession. Posing as strangers, one to another, it is asserted, the men would start a game of poker or bridge, finishing big winners. The principal victims were rich Americans. From one of whom the police say $50,000 was taken at Aix les Bains.

Shots Fired at Strikers.

Kenosha, July 22.—State troops at Milwaukee are in readiness tonight to come at once to this city in the event of any recurrence of the rioting which broke out here today, when the N. R. Allen, Sons' company re-opened its tannery plant, the employees of which had been on strike. After the rioting, in which three persons were shot, no serious disturbances occurred. The rioting today began when the guards attempted to disperse strikers who gathered about to jeer at those who remained at work. The guards at the works drew revolvers and charged the mob, firing in the air. When the strikers retreated one of their number was found to be shot, probably fatally. Two officers were also painfully wounded.

SCRATCHING AND BITING

London, July 21.—Six out of fourteen suffragettes who were recently imprisoned in the Holloway jail for breaking windows at Whitehall, have been released on account of insubordination, and Herbert Gladstone, Secretary of State for Home Affairs, intimated in the House of Commons yesterday that it was only a question of a few days until all of the women would be turned out, as the "hunger strike" had become general. Since the women were sentenced to close confinement, they have been breaking all the prison rules, and now, Mr. Gladstone said, they have taken to kicking and biting the female warders. The home secretary hotly denounced James Keir Hardie's suggestion that the cells underground were insanitary. At once made by the supporters of the suffragettes to adjourn the House in order to discuss the infliction of a punishment that was "dangerous to the health of the ladies," was defeated by the motion on the ground that there had been no departure from the ordinary administration of law.

MORE AMENDING OF POWER BYLAW

Agreement With B. C. Electric Company Before Council

The city has passed upon the bylaw incorporating the agreement between itself and the B. C. Electric Company relative to the development of the Jordan river power scheme. The agreement has been settled so far as the city is concerned—but with amendments.

It appears to be the fate of the agreement to be bundled about—first to be amended by the city, then further amendments suggested by the company, and when the agreement comes back to the city it means still more amendments. With the assent of the company to the city's contention that the city should not be barred from granting a franchise to another company though the corporation was willing to accept the company's proposition that no financial aid or assistance of any kind should be granted to any company which might desire to enter the local field, it looked as if the last difference between the contracting parties had vanished.

Perhaps such is the case, but when the city council, at a special meeting held last evening, considered the agreement two extra clauses were added, and some minor alterations made which will now have to go back to the company. If they are accepted, well and good. If not it will mean further consideration and consequent delay.

More Amendments

In the discussion of the bylaw, which must be submitted to the ratepayers before the agreement can be made binding, there was the same disposition shown by some of the aldermen to reshuffle old points which, it was thought, had already been settled. Ald. Turner, however, brought up one or two points which proved live topics, and resulted in two additional clauses being added to the agreement. These clauses, more in the nature of explanatory clauses, may or may not be accepted by the company, but in any event will be considered by that concern before the final draft of the bylaw is finally approved.

After setting forth that the city has entered into an agreement with the B. C. Electric Company providing that the corporation shall hereafter until December 5, 1938, be debarred from competing with the company in the businesses as now carried on in the city without first negotiating to purchase under the power of expropriation conferred under the amendment to the municipal act as applied for by the city at the next legislature the by-law goes on to recite the terms of the agreement which are as follows:

The Agreement

"This agreement made this day of — in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and nine, between: The British Columbia Electric Railway Company, Limited, hereinafter called 'the company'; of the one part; and the Corporation of the City of Victoria, hereinafter called 'the corporation'; of the other part:

"Whereas the company are carrying on the business of electric lighting and power within the city of Victoria and suburbs under the provisions of certain franchises, more particularly referred to in the act of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of British Columbia, known as 'The Victoria Electric Railway and Lighting Company, Limited, act, 1894';

"And whereas the company are carrying on similar undertakings in the city of Vancouver;

"And whereas in the year 1900, the said Legislative Assembly of the Province of British Columbia amended the Vancouver Incorporation act so as to provide that the said corporation of the city of Vancouver should not enter into any municipal undertaking that would come into competition with the business operations of the company in the city of Vancouver, without first offering to expropriate the undertaking of the company on certain conditions in the said act more fully set out.

"And whereas the company has applied to the corporation for their consent to the insertion of the said changes in the said 'Municipal Clauses Act,' the company have proposed to be bound by certain conditions and to undertake and perform the works hereinafter mentioned.

"Now, this agreement witnesseth that the parties hereto mutually covenant and agree with each other as follows:

Within Three Years

"1. At the earliest opportunity, and in any event within three years from the final passing of this bylaw, the company shall erect and maintain a power plant, estimated to cost not less than one million five hundred thousand dollars ($1,500,000) as near as possible to Victoria and tributary to that city, which said plant shall have a capacity of not less than ten thousand (10,000) horsepower, such increased power to be used in extensions to the electric railway, lighting and power undertakings of the company in and around the city of Victoria.

"2. From and after the time when the new plant is in operation the rates to be charged for electric light and power for the city of Victoria shall not exceed the schedule rates now charged by the company for electric light and power in the city of Vancouver; and the rates to be charged for electric light and power in the districts surrounding the city of Victoria shall not exceed the schedule rates now charged by the company for electric light and power in the districts surrounding the city of Vancouver, both of which schedule rates are heretofore annexed and marked 'A' and 'B' respectively, and are hereby incorporated herewith and made a part of this agreement and identified by the signatures of the parties hereto.

"3. From and after the time when the new power plant is in operation the company shall, if requested by the corporation, supply to the corporation at the city lighting station an amount of electricity to be used for lighting purposes of, but not for sale by, the corporation equal to the amount now generated by the present plant and appliances of the corporation, at a price which shall not exceed one-half of the present cost to the corporation of said generation; and if the corporation shall in future require a greater amount of electricity for said corporation lighting purpose, then same shall be supplied by the company at the same rate as above provided.

"4. The company shall, within the three (3) years from the final passing of this bylaw expend on extensions of their present undertakings within the city of Victoria and surrounding districts a sum of not less than two hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) exclusive of the expenditure provided for in clause 1 (one) of this agreement.

Power For Sale.

"5. If at any time in the future the corporation shall acquire an additional water supply from Sooke Lake or its watershed, and have surplus water for power purposes to dispose of, the company, if required by the corporation, shall purchase such surplus water delivered through the pipes of the corporation under a suitable head, at a rate to be agreed upon between the company and the corporation; and the event of the corporation's failure to agree upon such rate, the same to be settled by three arbitrators, one to be appointed by each party, and the two arbitrators to appoint a third, the whole to be subject to the provisions of the Arbitration Act. Provided that the company shall be required to purchase such surplus water unless delivered continuously and uninterruptedly in units of not less than one thousand (1,000) horse-power per day of twenty-four hours during the life of this agreement.

"6. The corporation hereby consents to and shall take all steps necessary on their part to procure, at the expense of the company, at the next session of the legislative assembly of the province of British Columbia, an amendment to be made to chapter 32 of the statutes of 1906, known as "Municipal Clauses Act," in the words and figures following, that is to say:

"The said chapter 32 is hereby amended by inserting after section 50 the following sections, namely,

"50a. Provided that the municipal council of the corporation of the city of Victoria shall not, without the assent of the majority of this section or by any other power contained in this or any other act, pass any by-law which shall have for its object the raising of money for, or the purchasing, acquiring, constructing, operating, or maintaining any works similar to those now carried on by the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, Limited, in Victoria, or by virtue of which the corporation of the city of Victoria will become a competitor in the said business of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, Limited in Victoria, until the council has, by by-law, fixed the price which they will offer for the property of the said company nor until thirty (30) days have elapsed after notice of such price shall have been communicated to the said company.

Competing Companies.

"Provided that nothing contained herein shall be deemed to in any wise restrict the right of the said corporation of the city of Victoria to authorize any person, firm or company to enter into competition with the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, Limited, within the limits of the said corporation, or from passing any by-laws necessary for the purpose of conferring franchises, charters, or other enabling powers necessary in that behalf, upon such conditions, and with such restrictions as the said corporation of the city of Victoria may deem advisable, but in so doing, no bonus, exemption, or immunity from taxes, or any class of aid shall be conferred.

"50b. Upon such by-law being passed and notice thereof given to the said company, they may either accept or refuse the same, or give notice to the council that they will require the purchase price of their property to be submitted to arbitration.

"50c. In case the notice referred to in the preceding subsection be given by the said company, the price to be paid for such property shall be referred to the arbitration of three arbitrators, one to be appointed by the said corporation, one by the council of the said municipality, and the third to be either agreed upon between the arbitrators appointed by the parties or to be named by a judge of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, and thereupon the arbitrators shall proceed and the provisions of the 'Arbitration Act' shall apply to such arbitration in all matters not herein specifically provided for.

Question of Price

"50d. In the event of the said company accepting the price fixed by the said by-law or in the event of an award being made under the arbitration hereinbefore referred to, such price shall be paid or secured before any further proceedings are taken by the council under the powers contained in the next preceding section and subsections of this act.

"50e. If said company refuse the price offered by the city, or if, at the expiration of thirty (30) days from the time that notification of the price offered has been delivered they fail to accept such price, or within the period aforesaid fail to give the notice required in an arbitration as aforesaid, then the council may proceed forthwith to exercise the powers conferred upon them by section 50 hereof."

"7. The provisions of this agreement shall endure to and be binding upon the parties hereto and their successors and assigns respectively.

"8. The corporation shall, forthwith after the execution of this agreement prepare a by-law confirming it, and submit the same to the vote of the ratepayers, and this agreement shall become binding upon the parties hereto when and only when the said by-law shall have received the assent of not less than three-fifths in number of the electors, who shall vote upon such by-law, and who are qualified to vote on money by-laws, and the said amendment to the "Municipal Clauses Act" has been enacted by the legislature.

"9. This agreement shall in no way be construed to extend any privilege to the company or vary any existing contract between the parties save as expressly herein stated, or effect any of the existing powers and franchises of the company; and the benefits hereby conferred and the obligations hereby imposed on the company shall terminate on the 5th (fifth) of December, 1938.

Added Clauses.

"10. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to affect the right of the corporation of the City of Victoria to carry on or operate any system of light or power it may deem necessary for its corporate purposes but not for the purposes of sale to other persons, firms or corporations.

"11. Failure or default by the company in observing or performing any covenant or condition herein contained by the company to be observed or performed shall be deemed, ipso facto, to annul all the rights, powers and privileges conferred upon the company by this agreement and the surety of any party in default shall not in any way affect the right of the city with respect to other defaults, breaches or failures.

GARDENING AS
WOMAN'S PURSUIT

Head of Swanley Institution
Tells of Its Work

Very kindly, Miss Wilkinson, the principal of Swanley Gardens in the beautiful country of Kent, stopped to tell in the midst of her packing, something of her work and of her impressions of Vancouver Island as a field for the work of pupils.

Miss Wilkinson was trained as a landscape gardener at the Horticultural college in the Crystal Palace, London. Her mother had always loved gardening, and she had been her assistant. When the time came that she felt she was no longer indispensable in a home where there were many girls, she followed her inclination and took up what was then a new profession among women. After having done a great deal of work on many large and beautiful grounds, Miss Wilkinson's skill in organizing placed her at the head of Swanley college. At first there were men as well as women students in this school but the number of men grew smaller and they were transferred to other schools and the institution became one for women only. The school is under the control of the Board of Education and on its board of governors are many distinguished men.

The girls who come to Swanley, Miss Wilkinson says, belong to what is called the upper middle classes. They are well educated, many of them being college graduates. They are young, strong and active. There is no lack of work for them at home but they want more freedom and a wider sphere. That is what attracts them to the colonies.

In many of their homes there is really little for a young woman to do except to amuse herself and a woman soon grows tired of this kind of life. It is this lack of home interests and home employment that has led so many English gentlemen to enter the working world.

English women have always been gardeners. Some of the loveliest gardens in the country are in the villages. Those in Surrey are a perfect dream and many of them are worked by the wives and daughters of the owners.

It was natural, then, for girls looking about for a career to think of gardening and when Swanley was opened to them in 1892, five women entered it. They had been very successful. More and more entered till now there was no branch of gardening that they had not strength and skill to perform.

The work of gardening was not as hard on girls as athletic games and they invariably improved in health after being at Swanley for a few months. Miss Wilkinson showed a picture of one of the girls who wanted to come out to British Columbia. She was unusually strong and could work 12 hours without being overtired. Miss Wilkinson has come to Canada to see where her girls are likely to find the most profitable employment. She has been at Duncan's and Saanich and has seen all the places in the vicinity of Victoria. So far as she has observed, there is no gardening done here which Swanley girls could not do. She believes that two or three together might cultivate a fruit farm. There are, she thinks, openings as poultry keepers and she cannot see why such employment should not be very profitable.

As English gardeners a woman might be employed in the smaller homes and a few of the more capable might become managers to some of the owners of fruit farms when they had thoroughly learned the conditions. But it was at first as helpers in the country homes that the girls would be most useful. Their intelligence and refinement would make them admirable companions and they ought to be very useful in helping on the land. They could also assist in the home, though it must be confessed, gardening did not conduce to a love of housework.

Another opening should be in the preserving of fruit and vegetables. This was found to pay very well in the English garden.

Miss Wilkinson is a great believer in school gardens. Wherever they have been introduced in England the effect on the children had been excellent.

She spoke of the movement in England to get the people away from the cities. In the Garden city of Letchworth all the people have small holdings, and it is intended to establish such industries as bookbinding and other handicrafts in the neighborhood. In England, however, there are many country districts which are suffering for want of labor.

Like Miss Kitson, Miss Wilkinson believes that there is work enough in England for those who are fitted to do it. Asked that would be the result on the labor market for women of the entry into it of so many educated and cultured women, this lady considers that it will be to elevate the standard of the workers. As a proof of this she instanced nursing. Thirty years ago the nurses were a low class of women, rough, and coarse. The gentlemen took up the work and now a nurse was honored everywhere. The place is now being filled with educated girls from among the old class who have learned the value of training. The same revolution is beginning in domestic service, although Miss Wilkinson has the greatest regard for the servants of a former generation than whom none are more faithful or capable.

Already graduates of Swanley are filling positions of responsibility both in the old land and in the colonies. In Vancouver, Miss Abercrombie is Nature teacher in the provincial Normal school. Another graduate is head of a vacation school in connection with the University of Philadelphia. In Bloomfontain one of the Swanley girls is looking after the government school gardens, and a fourth is an apiarist in New Zealand, while in Quebec a gentleman has engaged one as his house gardener.

Miss Wilkinson, with her friend, Miss Kitson, left yesterday for Vancouver and will, before she leaves the province, visit the Okanagan.

COMPLETED REPAIRS
AT NORTHERN LIGHTS

Returning from Ivory Island and Dryad Point Lighthouse where he has been in charge of repairs, C. N. Tubman has returned to Victoria. At Ivory Island Lighthouse in Milbanck Sound, Mr. Tubman had a gang of men engaged in raising the lighthouse tower. When the new fog alarm building was erected at this station, it was placed in such a position that it obscured the light, and the tower was raised of necessity. A breakwater was also built at Ivory Island.

When the earthquake occurred last winter at Queen Charlotte Islands, it was followed, about twentyfour hours afterward by a tidal wave which did much damage at the Ivory Island light. The waves broke in part of the fog alarm, and to avoid further damage by the sea it was decided to construct a breakwater.

Near World's Record.

Washington, D. C., July 22.—In two short flights in his aeroplane last evening at Fort Meyer, Orville Wright closely approached the world's aeroplane speed record, attaining an average velocity of 54 1/2 miles an hour. During the first flight in the air the craft remained aloft only one minute and 39 seconds, the aviator being forced to descend by losing a cog wheel on the magnets, after making his second round of the course. On his second flight the aeroplane swiftly circled a dozen times around the course, which is five-sixths of a mile. Certain changes in one gearing in the motor and propellers which were intended to give the machine a higher speed had been effected.

MORE POLICING
IS NECESSARY

Some Missionaries Are Inclined to Stir Up Indians, Says Surveyor

J. H. Brownlee, of the B. C. Land Survey, who has gained considerable knowledge of the northern Indians during his work gives some interesting reasons for the present unrest among the Skeena tribes, and states that the opinion of the law abiding settlers in that neighborhood is that under present conditions further policing is necessary. He says, "The discontent is that some of the missionaries are inclined to advise the Indians to stand up for their supposed territorial and tribal rights."

In the course of an interview with the Colonist Mr. Brownlee said:

"The present trouble among the Northern Indians, perhaps can best be described as in the nature of an unrest. My observations lead me to believe that the discontent which has been manifested has been incited to some extent by designing Indian leaders. In this respect I was surprised to find the intimate knowledge which the Indians of the interior possess of Chief Capilano Joe and his kindred. They have heard of his visit to England, and of his reception by the King, and they have been in touch with his doings ever since. I feel assured that his influence with these northern Indians is not for good."

"Another element which makes for the unrest is the fact that Gun-Noot, who murdered two white men, is still at large. The Indians believe that since he has succeeded in eluding the justice of the white man, that the arm of the law is not very strong in the north. This belief has had a bad influence on their behavior."

Missionaries Troublesome

"Yet another reason is, and I am sorry to have to say it, that some of the missionaries are inclined to advise the Indians to stand up for their supposed territorial and tribal rights. This incites the Indians to be cheeky and to interfere with the development of the country. While some missionaries have acted in this manner I wish to cast no reflection on the splendid missionary service Hazelton has enjoyed for the past twenty-five years."

"Some of these discontented tribes arrogate to themselves the right to turn white settlers and land stalkers away from the unstaked portion of the province, claiming that the land is theirs through traditional rights. Both the natives, as well as some of the whites in the northern country have a very large capacity for land grabbing, but their capacity for cultivating the land, or indeed making any use of it whatever, is practically nil. As an instance of this, last year I surveyed a block of land on the east side of Babine lake, comprising from 1,500 to 1,600 acres lying north and west of the old Babine post, and having a waterfront of from eight to nine miles. At the time of the survey, in September last, there were no Indians living there, although there were several Indian shacks. As a matter of curiosity I walked over this land again in June this year, and there was not a solitary Indian family to be found there. The most of this acreage was open hillside, capable of cultivation."

Commissioners at Work

"While I was coming down the Skeena river, the Dominion government commissioners, Judge Fowell, the Indian commissioner, S. Stewart, who has just sent out from Ottawa, were on their way out to investigate the situation. I understand that at the time there was a meeting of the Skeena tribes at Hazelton. At this point as well as in the Bulkley valley it was the general wish of the settlers and merchants that both the Dominion and provincial governments should take this unrest seriously, and would co-operate and devise the best means of preventing a possible uprising."

"The provincial constabulary and the magistrate in the Skeena district are doing very good work in suppressing petty crime among the Indians. But there is a very general opinion that the large district, with Hazelton as its centre, and comprising the Kispiox Indian settlement, the Hazelgate Indian settlement, near Hazelton, the Morristown reserve on the Bulkley, the Klitwag Indian settlement, 25 miles below Hazelton, and the other Indian settlements further down the river, are not sufficiently policed under the existing conditions."

"Undesirables Entering
"The construction of the first hundred miles of the Grand Trunk Pacific on the west bank of the Skeena, and the fact that the contract for the second hundred miles, which will extend beyond Hazelton, is about to be let, is bringing whiskey peddlars, and many other undesirable men to the northern country. I understand that the provincial government is planning these new conditions by increasing its police force. From my observations I would say that it is the duty of the authorities to punish any leaders that have incited, or may incite the Indians, to any rash act."

"The northern Indians as a whole are inclined to be peaceable, and if not happy, contented. There are some bad men among them, who are ill advising them, and there are also bad white men in the country, who for selfish reasons would like to see a little tinhorn rebellion started somewhere in the interior, so as to increase the circulation of money there. CLEMENCEAU POLICY

AND REFORMED CABINET

Minister of Justice Briand Alternative For Premiership of France

Paris, July 22.—Leon Bourgeois, formerly premier and foreign minister to whom President Fallieres has decided to offer the task of forming a new cabinet in succession to the Clemenceau ministry, which fell suddenly two days ago as the result of an adverse vote in the Chamber of Deputies during a debate on the naval scandal, was expected to reach Paris this afternoon. But as doubt exists as to whether he will accept the portfolio, and as time presses, if he should not arrive at the capital before night, M. Briand, minister of Justice and War, will be named the premier. Later, M. Bourgeois failed to arrive on the Cologne express which reached Paris late this afternoon, and it is believed he did not receive the telegram forwarded to him last night by President Fallieres. M. Bourgeois' exact whereabouts are unknown. The parliamentary leaders are unanimous in agreeing that a reconstructed Clemenceau cabinet committed to the Clemenceau programme is the logical solution of the ministerial crisis, in the face of the coming general election.

Policing the New Provinces.

Ottawa, July 22.—Comptroller White of the Mounted Police has no official confirmation of the report that an arrangement has been reached with Alberta for the retention of the Mounted Police force in that province for five years longer. An arrangement is, however, expected as a result of negotiations which have been in progress. The policy of the federal authorities is to withdraw the Mounted Police from the more thickly settled portions of the new provinces by degrees, but it is not intended to hurry the withdrawal until the municipal system of the provinces is better organized.

THE WOMAN'S BUILDING

The laying of the corner stone of the Women's Building at the Exhibition grounds yesterday was a very interesting function. The structure is intended for the display at exhibitions of the work of women and children, and it will supply a very much needed requirement. Its inception is due to the energetic action of a number of ladies, who are usually to the fore in all work in which women may be thought to have a special interest. The money will be provided by the various women's organizations, and will be obtained by public subscription.

The very great interest taken by Victoria ladies in public matters is highly commendable. Perhaps there is no city of its population in Canada where as much public spirit is displayed by the fair sex as here, and certainly in no place is it more in evidence. A pleasing feature of their work is the unobtrusive way in which it is done. This city has every reason to feel proud of its women's societies, and the latest direction in which their efforts have been put forth is highly commendable.

NEW BRITISH COLUMBIA.

In a paragraph elsewhere on this page is a quotation from some observations made by Mr. Templeman upon the effect of the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific. At the time that enterprise was projected there were wide differences of opinion as to the plan adopted by the Dominion government, but there were none in British Columbia, at least, as to what such a railway would mean to the province. Doubtless knowledge of what Mr. McBride called "New British Columbia" was not as general five or six years ago, even here, as it is now; but there has always been a strong belief in the minds of the people that the region which extends across the province near the 54th parallel was full of promise. When the policy of building a railway to what is now Prince Rupert was adopted, a great deal of attention was given to the region which it would traverse. Reports of surveyors and others, almost forgotten, were brought to light; private explorations were undertaken; and the provincial government sent out surveyors to examine the country and arrange for the advent of settlers. It can be said with confidence that none of the information brought back by these various parties in any way detracted from the previous estimation in which the country was held; but, on the contrary, each of them added to it, by giving details confirmatory of the earliest accounts. We know now that a region of large extent and great potential value will be opened for settlement and industry by the Grand Trunk Pacific.

Just here a little general information concerning the structural character of the country may be interesting. Prominent among the geological features of British Columbia are the great structural valleys. One of these is that occupied by the waters of the Strait of Juan de Fuca, and it extends eastwards until the Hope Mountains are encountered. There the tremendous cleavage extends northwards to form the canyon of the Fraser. Another great structural valley is that occupied by Dixon's Entrance. It extends through the Coast Range to form the secondary valleys occupied by the Skeena and the Naas. There are other structural valleys of vast importance. One of these follows the western slope of the Rocky Mountains. The Kootenay, the Columbia, the Fraser, and the sources of the Peace River occupy it. It widens towards the north until at length its uniformity is lost among the detached peaks of what further south are the Rocky Mountains. Another great valley extends from the Fraser northwesterly. It is occupied by the great central lake region of British Columbia, and, although more or less broken by mountains, it extends far north to form the region drained by the Yukon. The tremendous cataclysm which determined this configuration of the country clove a chasm through the Rocky Mountains through which the drainage of a large area west of that chain finds its way to form the Peace river. These facts have an important bearing upon the future development of the province, for they must be kept in mind, whenever we consider in a broad way how the great problems of transportation and colonization will be worked out.

Speaking generally, it may be said that from the mouth of the Naas on Portland Canal to the point where the 120th meridian crosses the Peace river there is a belt of land nearly all well adapted for settlement. It extends east of that meridian; but we are now only concerned with that part of it which lies within the province. In a direct line, the distance between the two points above named is approximately 400 miles. In demonstration of the claim that this may be looked upon as substantially all fit for settlement, we may mention that lying eastward of the Naas is a fine area, which is connected with the Skeena by what is called the Kispixox valley, also very well fitted for settlement; from Hazelton we pass into the Bulkley valley and thence into the Nechaco and the lake region. This carries us east to the Grand Bend of the Fraser, north of which is the Omicenia country so-called, where there are areas well adapted for settlement. Then come the mountains, but beyond the mountains lie the prairies of the Peace river. All this great region is not cultivable. There are minor mountain ranges west of the Rockies, which interrupt it to a greater or less extent; but prospecting shows that in these mountains are mineral deposits which are almost certain to be of great value.

Such, in a general way is New British Columbia. Of its climatic conditions a few words may be said. Its summers are warm, with abundant precipitation, and the long hours of sunshine are exceedingly favorable to vegetation. Its winters are not as cold as those of Manitoba, and it is free from heavy winds. As a rule spring comes earlier than in the province of Quebec or Northern Ontario. The winters on an average are not more severe than in Aroostook, Maine, or Northern New Brunswick, and the former is called "the garden of New England." Surely New British Columbia is a land full of possibilities, and surely its development is an object worthy of the ambition of any man.

THE NORTHERN INDIANS

If our information is correct, the case of the Indians of Northern British Columbia is one that will need very careful handling. At present there is no real danger, nothing more than what may be described as a general condition of unrest. If nothing untoward happens this feeling may subside in a short time, but a fanatical leader, especially if he can get hold of a lot of whiskey, may do a great deal of trouble. The northern part of this province is very extensive. North of Hazelton is an area of 100,000 square miles in which turbulent Indians might hide themselves from the law. A well-informed gentleman said to the Colonist yesterday that he knew from conversations with the Indians, that they had given this matter a very great deal of consideration, and are much impressed with their ability to defy the white people, if they want to.

We feel very sure that with promptness, firmness and fairness any serious trouble can be avoided, but we would like to impress upon every one the absolute necessity of avoiding anything like politics in the discussion of this subject. No matter what we may think—and we do not suggest for a moment that anything has occurred calling for adverse criticism from a political point of view—it is of the greatest importance that the Northern Indians should be given to understand that the white people are a unit in this matter. It is also important that the Indians should be impressed with the power of the government to control the situation, if it should unhappily become necessary to resort to force. They must be made to understand that whatever their claims may be, they will only be adjusted by peaceable means, that the government—and in a matter of this kind the federal and provincial government should act as a unit, is strong enough to preserve the peace and to punish all who violate the law. As to the way in which this should be demonstrated it may be a little too soon to express an opinion, further than to say that it is desirable, as long as possible, to avoid any appearance of coercion; but we feel very sure that during the coming winter, if not before, all doubt on that point should be removed from the minds of the Indians.

We are sorry to have to think that the present unrest is not due wholly to the influences of such mischief-makers as Capilano Joe; but that certain ill-advised white people have been filling up the minds of the Indians with exaggerated notions of their rights. It is also said that whiskey peddlers are doing a great deal of harm. Now whiskey peddlers, sentimental white people, a turbulent and swollen-headed Swash and a lot of ignorant, though not naturally troublesome Indians make up a very dangerous combination. We have no doubt that both governments will do their best to prevent any serious trouble, and we refer to the matter now only for the purpose of impressing upon those in authority the necessity of avoiding every unnecessary delay. It is highly desirable that every cause of unrest shall, if possible, be disposed of before the winter sets in.

The news that tenders have been asked for the final section of the Nanaimo-Alberni road will be welcomed by a very great many people.

There seems to be a chance that permission to erect the E. & N. bridge may have been granted on condition that it was to be used for public purposes.

Will there be war in South America? No one can tell. Only one thing is certain and that is that no one ever knows what a South American government will do next.

We had an interesting interview this morning with Miss Wilkinson, the principal of Swanley Gardens, in which she speaks with knowledge and discrimination of some phases of women's work.

Said Bolivia to Argentine: "I'll stand up for my rights to the end." And Argentine replied: "I don't Bolivia." Whereupon there was nothing left but to break off diplomatic relations.

Mr. D. D. Mann is very enthusiastic over the crop prospects. Mr. William Mackenzie has a trick of converting his partner's optimism into shekels, and then they together convert the shekels into railways. All of which is just as it should be. Dan and Billy, as the irreverent call them are "par noble fratrium," which may be freely translated a pair that are good to draw to.

The Calgary Herald, referring to the question submitted to President Taft as to "what is whiskey," says that at the risk of deterring immigration it will have to state that in the Alberta city it is "15 cents a jolt." There is a tradition that "jolts" are not absolutely uniform magnitude, and hence the Herald has only partially solved the important question.

Speaking at Vancouver, Mr. Templeman said: "We believe that the Transcontinental in the north will do even more for British Columbia than the C. P. R. has done. We will complete the Transcontinental, and just as sure as fate, when we have that done, we will build a road to Hudson Bay." We find nothing in this to which to raise the slightest objection, and we hope not to be astray when we say that Mr. Templeman and his colleagues may be expected to approach other railway projects in which British Columbia is interested in the same spirit of optimistic resolution. Since he has been in public life, Mr. Templeman has never said anything that had a better ring about it than the sentence just quoted.

Professor Roth of the Michigan University, discusses the timber situation in British Columbia. To the minds of some people his views may assume weight from the fact that he is a Professor of Forestry, but the question of tenure, as considered by him, is simply a matter of policy, and has nothing whatever to do with the science of forestry. He favors an annual tenure, which is surprising in view of the fact that such a tenure would inevitably be wasteful in the extreme, because it would lead every operator to slaughter the growing timber recklessly. Professor Roth has a perfect right to discuss economic problems from any point of view he prefers, but he ought not to give his opinion fictitious value by putting them forward as those of an expert on a subject about which he does not necessarily know more than any one else.

The Colonist has on several occasions directed attention to the manner in which the Arm is obstructed by the booms of logs. No one wishes to put the slightest obstacle in the way of any legitimate industry. This city needs as big a pay roll as it can get and the more saw mills the better. But there is such a thing as regard for the rights of others. A few weeks ago a boom of logs lay all the way across the Arm just above the Point Ellice bridge. Frequently the booms are in such a position as to be very dangerous to pleasure craft. There is a regulation, which says that all rafts shall carry lights, but some one has chosen to construe that to mean that booms need not. We know of no definition of a raft that will not apply to a log boom. The dictionary says a raft is a collection of logs fastened together for purpose of transportation, or a collection of timber which obstructs navigation. It is idle to claim that a collection of logs held together by a snare of other logs is not a raft whether the junction between the logs is made by a chain or in some other way. But apart altogether from the matter of lights, it is the duty of the harbor master to see that the fairway is kept clear, and he should attend to it.

The Swiss Guards Who Did Their Duty

The Swiss have often been noted for brave deeds, but one of those we like to think about most was done by Swiss soldiers far away from their own beautiful Lake Lucerne. In Paris, in 1792, the year of the Revolution, the French kings had learned to rely on the Swiss, and had formed a guard of honor of trusty yeoman from Lucerne and other cantons, and called it "Les Gardes du Roi."

When the mob stormed the Tuilleries Palace, where the royal family were, on August 10th, 1792, the Swiss Guards stood firm at their posts, defending with their lives King Louis XVI. and his queen, so that the men who were thirsting for their blood could only reach them over the bodies of the Swiss. One after another the soldiers were massacred, fighting bravely till two battalions were overcome, and when the rest fell, on September 2nd and 3rd, the Swiss Guards were almost wiped out.

The great Danish sculptor, Thorwaldsen, designed a beautiful memorial for the Swiss Guards, which has been sculptured out of the natural rock in the Glacier Garden at Lucerne. It represents a wounded lion pierced by a broken weapon, defending with its paw, as it lies dying, a shield bearing the fleur-de-lis of France. On the rock over the lion's head we read "Helvetiorum fidelis ac virtuti." A Latin inscription which means "To the fidelity and courage of the Swiss." Then the names are given of those who were not false to the oath of fidelity—officers and men, who fell not in defence of their own country, but simply in doing their duty to a foreign king.

If you ever go to Lucerne, be sure to see the lion, for it is a touching monument to loyalty, carved in the Alps of the men's native land. It is over a hundred years since they fell, but their memory is still dear in the land of their birth.—Children's Encyclopedia.

Charged With Theft.

Vancouver, July 22.—David A. Steele of New Westminster was arrested at 6 o'clock this morning by Detective McLeod and Green on a complaint charging him with the theft of $300 from Jack Stewart. In the police court this morning the case was remanded for a day and his bail was set at $2,000. Stewart alleges that while visiting the Shore street houses last night in company with Steele and other young men, Steele secured his money.

Collision With Runaway Team.

Vancouver, July 22.—Late yesterday afternoon Mrs. W. D. Wallbridge and Mrs. Carl had a very narrow escape from serious injury in a collision between a runaway Hudson's Bay team and their own light rig in Stanley park. The frightened team got beyond the control of the driver and dashed directly into the rig in which rode the two ladies, but although both the occupants were thrown out, neither suffered the least injury. Their horse was injured slightly and the rig was totally demolished. The runaway was captured shortly afterwards without doing any further damage.

New School Inspectorate.

Vancouver, July 22.—The provincial department of Education, having recently increased the staff of school inspectors, has divided the large coast inspectorate, which previously included all the territory and schools exclusive of the city of Vancouver on both sides of the Fraser river to Agassiz and along the coast and adjacent islands to Prince Rupert, into two inspectorates. One of these will include the rural municipalities on the south side of the Fraser river, Delta, Surrey, Langley, Matsqui, Sumas and Chilliwack, together with the cities of Chilliwack and New Westminster. This territory has been assigned to Inspector Gillis, with headquarters at New Westminster. Inspector A. C. Stewart, who for the past eight years covered this whole territory, has been assigned to the coast district and the municipalities adjoining Vancouver and along the C. P. R. to Harrison river, with headquarters, as previously, in the city of Vancouver.

New York, July 22.—A plea for the stoppage of the "White Slave" traffic between the United States and the Canal zone is contemplated in a letter from Second Lieut. C. W. Barber, of the Second U. S. Infantry, the assistant chief of police of the Canal zone, which was given out today by the local police. Writing to former Commissioner Bingham, Lieut. Barber declares that many American girls, especially actresses, had been lured to Panama and that "the life they lead there would make your heart bleed." The letter tells the story of three chorus girls, the writer says, who were lured to Panama on promise of an engagement in a local playhouse and who were saved by the chaplain of the steamer Tarara, who took them aboard. The woman who is alleged to have engaged them to go to Panama was arrested and escaped, but later was arrested in Guayaquil under the name of Spencer. The police will meet the steamer Alliance due here tomorrow, to ascertain if the woman calling herself Helen Spencer, who, a wire from the last night said had vainly attempted suicide on board, is the woman who was arrested in Guayaquil.

Will Not Sway Bridge

Mr. Sorby stated that the railway company is now operating the bridge in its own interests contrary to the regulations as they affected the shipping interests. The company insists that the bridge shall not be swung unless one-half-hour prior to a ship desiring to go through. There is no reason why, if up-to-date, motive power is used, a quicker time should not be made. But as things are now great delay occurs, and when persons using the upper harbor in their business wish to ship logs or bring in boats they suffer loss by reason of the delay in swinging the bridge. Joseph Sayward illustrated some instances where loss might have occurred through the delay in swinging the bridge, and Mr. McGregor stated that while in other harbors trains are supposed to wait upon the water traffic here the opposite is the case. What was really needed was an up-to-date bridge, either operated by power which would result in its quick operation or a new bridge of the bascule type, which would allow of the entire width of the water passage being utilized. To put the present bridge in proper shape to operate without delay would require the expenditure of about $5,000, but to build an up-to-date bridge would mean an expenditure of perhaps $30,000. Capt. Grant also urged some improvement in the present system whereby delays are incurred which redound to the loss of those interested in the shipping industry. Ald. Bishop advocated the city, the provincial and Dominion governments and the railway company getting together and arriving at some satisfactory solution, which would result in a proper bridge being erected, while Mayor Hall suggested that as Hon. Mr. Pugsley will arrive here tomorrow he might be interviewed, and an effort be made to induce him to take the matter up with his conferees. It was finally decided to lay the matter before the railway commissioners when they arrive on the coast next month.

NEWS OF THE CITY

Leaves For Vancouver.

Hon. Richard McBride left yesterday afternoon for Vancouver to open the kermesse. He will not return until Tuesday next.

Will Erect Dwelling

A building permit was taken out yesterday afternoon by J. R. Saunders, who will erect a dwelling on Pembroke avenue to cost $1,700.

Cormorant Street Pavement

Cormorant street between Store street and Government street is being prepared for the granitoid pavement, which will be laid on that portion of the thoroughfare. The gas mains are being installed and connections made with the various premises on either side. Work on laying the pavement will commence in about ten days' time.

New Magistrate.

In the police court yesterday Mr. C. J. Prior made his first appearance on the bench as magistrate, he was assisted by Mr. J. R. Saunders during the absence of Mr. Jay. The proceedings were short as there were only a couple of drunks in the dock. This morning, however, a long session is expected as there are a number of motor cases awaiting adjudication.

Early Start on Pavement

Now that the contract between the city and Sabin & Stevens, who have secured the contract for the laying of the vitrified brick pavement on Wharf street, has been signed, work will commence at once, probably today or tomorrow. The Denny-Renton company, Seattle, from which the brick will be secured, has notified the city that it is ready to start delivery by August 10, at which date the roadway will be in shape, it is expected, to receive the brick.

Resigns Secretaryship.

Angus B. McNeill has resigned his position as secretary-treasurer of the Victoria and Esquimalt Pilotage Authority, and Joshua Kinman has succeeded to the position. In his letter of resignation Mr. McNeill states that he finds his real estate and other lines of business are hampered by the responsibility of the office, and thanks the Pilotage Board for their untiring courtesy and consideration during his term of office. Mr. Kinman, by virtue of taking up the office resigns the post of commissioner on the Pilotage Board.

Hall Will Recover

Julian Hall, the man who attempted to take his own life early Wednesday morning in his lodgings in Esquimalt by shooting himself, but who was wounded and unconscious, was conveyed to St. Joseph's hospital, will be about again in a few days. Hall directed the shot into his own brain, but his intoxicated state interfered with his aim and beyond severely wounding himself he failed to accomplish his purpose. He is now resting quietly at the hospital and in a few days will be well enough to return home.

Early Morning Fire

Rats and matches caused an early morning blaze yesterday morning in the premises of the Hamilton Powder company, corner of Port and Wharf streets. When the alarm was sounded by the night watchman about 4:30 o'clock smoke was issuing from the windows of the place in dense volume. A quantity of office stationery was on fire when the firemen burst open the front door, but beyond some damage to a counter and the loss of some stationery little damage was done. The brigade promptly subdued the incipient blaze.

Surface Drain Work

Rapid progress is being made on the installation of the big six-foot brick surface drain which will be constructed from Ross Bay along Linden avenue, Snowden and Oscar streets to Cook street to connect with the drain on the latter thoroughfare. A large gang of workmen has been engaged for the past two weeks and the work is completed on Oscar street. It will require an expenditure of about $15,000 for the drain, which will be finished before the rainy season commences. Work is also in progress on other sections of the surface drainage system which will be installed under the authority of the $150,000 bylaw which was passed last year. On Burnside avenue one of the main drains is being installed and work is also progressing on the King's avenue drain, while the drain to be laid on Fernwood road will be commenced in a short time. Lateral drains from these main drains are also to be constructed.

CONSERVATIVE PICNIC

Annual Celebration to Be Again Held at Sidney, B. C.

The annual Conservative picnic will be held at Sidney on Saturday, August 7. Return fare 25 cents. Arrangements have been made for a good train service all day and a large attendance is assured. The premier and members of the cabinet have arranged to attend as well as several of the Ottawa M. P.'s and a number of the local members. Those who remember the splendid success of last year's outing feel confident of an even larger attendance. All the committees in charge are working hard for the success of the picnic which has now established itself as an annual affair.

ESCAPES FROM STRAITJACKET

Pantages Performer Does Wonderful Feat of Liberation

Last night, in full view of the large audience Leon, one of Astro's wonder workers, wriggled, twisted, rolled and squeezed himself out of a regulation official straight-jacket commonly used in penitentiaries and insane asylums for completely subduing desperate criminals or insane people. A committee which included a number of police officials supervised the performance of Leon in the jacket and it seemed utterly impossible for him to free himself yet it took him just six minutes to do the trick, to the astonishment of all who saw him. This afternoon Miss Astro will attempt to escape from a sealed trunk, after being handcuffed and shackled and tomorrow night Astro, the fortune teller will present each lady present a palmist's chart and there will probably be something doing in the way of holding hands later on in Victoria social circles.

St. Pierre Fishery.

Ninety-seven vessels of the French fishing fleet had arrived at St. Pierre. Nearly all the vessels have good catches, about 70,000 quintals of fish having been landed in seven days. Some vessels have taken as high as 2,000 quintals. The only failures reported are from vessels operating at Flemish Cape, where fish have been very scarce all the spring. The scarcity of vessels in which to ship the fish to France had had a tendency to reduce the price, which has dropped two francs in the past two weeks, 17 francs being the prevailing rate at present.

TENDER RECEPTION TO MRS. DOBESON

An Interesting Account of Woman's Activity in Australia Given

A reception was tendered by the local council of women to Mrs. Dobeson, the representative of the Australian council at the Congress of Women which recently met at Toronto, on Wednesday evening.

The president of the local council, Mrs. C. E. Cooper, and Mrs. Hasell, secretary of the Alexandra Club, acted as hostesses. Among those present were Mrs. Day, Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. Fitzgibbons, Mrs. Green, Mrs. Gordon Grant, Mrs. Gleason, Mrs. Reid, Miss Tully, Dr. Elta Donovan, Miss Stevenson, Miss Kitchin, of Scarborough, Eng., Mrs. Wilkinson, of Swanley Gardens, Miss M. Evans, Mrs. Ney, Rev. C. E. Cooper, and Mr. J. Day.

The rooms were very beautifully decorated, and refreshments were served during the evening.

Mrs. Dobeson delivered a short but very interesting address. She spoke of the objection the councils of women in Australia had to federating into a national council, explaining the constitution of the Commonwealth, and the very great distances between the states. It was owing to these causes that the different councils considered it wiser to preserve their autonomy.

The councils of Australia had done excellent work. They had been instrumental in establishing child and courts in every state. In Victoria they had an epileptic colony, and it was through their efforts that sanatoria for tuberculous patients had been established throughout the country.

That in Tasmania had been very successful, a very large percentage of cures having been effected. The councils had not yet succeeded in obtaining pure milk supplies, but they were working for it. Laws had been made for the better protection of women and children, and the good laws on the statute books had been enforced. The work of the councils had been very only a dead letter was dwelt upon.

Methods Described.
The method of the council work in Tasmania was described. The council took up any work which it saw was needed, brought it before the women, who formed themselves into a society to carry it on. Much of its work was done through special committees, who were really experts in their departments. Among the good things the council had done was to place women wardens in the prisons.

The speaker described the work of the bureau of information in connection with the council, and advised the local council to enter upon that work. In this way they could keep in touch with what was going on in every part of the world in council work.

Mrs. Dobeson advocates strongly the establishment of the society of ministering children. This was first begun by Lady Meath in her own home to promote among her children's spirit of usefulness and love for others. In Australia the society is affiliated with the local council of women, and the children have done wonderful work for many benevolent purposes. They build and support orphanages, and in Victoria and Western Australia have a home for consumptives.

The speaker passed on to tell of the work Australian women had done in the political world. She could say that so far the possession of votes by women had resulted in nothing but good. She herself had not worked to gain the vote, but had felt it her duty to exercise the franchise. The vote had been used in practical manner. Women were recognized by men as the chief workers in philanthropic and social causes, and the side of legislation concerned with these was the better for women's help. It was admitted that a danger exists that pressure will be forced upon women to bear upon the case in some of the labor organizations during elections. Education, however, was overcoming prejudices.

In closing, Mrs. Dobeson said that if the work now being undertaken by the councils of women throughout the world in the realms of health, education, and morality were carried out, there would be a bloodless revolution. Mrs. Jenkins, in moving a vote of thanks, said she was delighted with the opportunity of expressing her appreciation of the work done by the councils of Australia. Such addresses brought us into closer touch with the women of other countries, and gave a larger insight.

In seconding the vote, Mrs. Fitzgibbons said she felt like a twisted interrogation point. There were so many things she wanted to ask. Nothing was more necessary than that we should have a clearer idea of the geography of other parts of the empire and of the problems the people had to solve. For herself, she preferred that men should bear the burden of dealing with political questions.

Miss Kitchin supported the vote in a short speech in which she said that Canada was greatly to be congratulated on having no need for poor-law guardians. She and Miss Wilkinson would on their return be missionaries to preach to Englishmen the value of Canada to them. Of this they had but a faint conception.

The vote was unanimously passed. Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Hasell, Mrs. Day, Mrs. Gordon Grant, and others took part in the interesting informal discussion that followed.

THE REAL TEST
Of Herpicide Is In Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article, and that is its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vipers may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair? No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

TO ENTERTAIN
HON. MR. PUGSLEY
Minister Will Be Taken Over
Victoria and Esquimalt
Harbors

At a meeting of prominent citizens who are interested in local harbor improvements, held in the board of trade rooms yesterday, the question of the social and business arrangements for the reception of the Hon. W. Pugsley, Minister of Public Works, were discussed.

At the last meeting of the council of the board of trade this matter was delegated to the president, Simon Leiser, who yesterday called together a few of the most interested parties in harbor improvement. In the making of the arrangements some regret was expressed because it was deemed advisable not to include a banquet, in consequence of the limited time at the disposal of the minister.

The representations which will be made as to the most important harbor improvements were agreed upon, and the programme for Monday was arranged as follows:

The Hon. Mr. Pugsley will be met in the board of trade rooms at 9:30 o'clock on Monday morning. Plans of Victoria Harbor will be presented to him, and the general plan of improvement explained. The meeting will then adjourn to the S.S. City of Nanaimo, which the C. P. R. has very kindly placed at the disposal of the board of trade for the occasion. The party will proceed in the vessel over the harbor below the railway bridge, and upon their return the sternwheeler White Swan Flyer, will be requisitioned to take Mr. Pugsley and a committee over the harbor above the railway bridge. It is expected that this business will be in all the morning, and enable Mr. Pugsley to reach the Empress hotel in time for the luncheon of the Canadian Club, at which he will be the guest.

In the afternoon the minister will be taken on a visit to the dry dock, the naval yard, Messrs. J. H. Todd's cannery, and the B. C. Marine railway at Esquimalt. This programme will occupy until late in the evening, and the following morning it is understood that Mr. Pugsley will leave for Nanaimo.

Secures Canadian Crusher

Since the city refused to purchase a crusher from the T. L. Smith company, through Beale & Co., of Portland, agents for the first named company, after the order had been signed, because the agent had made representations which were not carried out by his principals, it was found necessary to purchase a machine from another source. The proper style of machine has been secured from the Mussons Limited, Vancouver, which promises speedy delivery of a crusher similar to one already in use here.

WOMEN'S BUILDING IS COMMENCED

Mrs. J. Dunsmuir Lays Corner
Stone at Agricultural Grounds

A representative gathering of Victoria ladies were present yesterday afternoon at the interesting and picturesque ceremony which marked the laying of the corner stone of the new woman's building which is to be erected at the agricultural fair grounds. Situated at the west end of the grounds the site of the building yesterday was marked by a hexagonal block of cement into an aperture in which the corner stone was laid by Mrs. James Dunsmuir. Nearby was a large refreshment marquee, where, subsequent to the ceremony, those present were entertained by Mrs. Richards, who was the prime mover in the project for the new woman's building.

A number of Victoria's most prominent citizens were present, and the scene was one of an animated character. Grouped in a semi-circle round the spot where the ceremony took place, the ladies in their many-colored dresses presented a picturesque appearance, the bright sunshine lending additional brilliancy to the scene. Prior to the ceremony, and while those present were enjoying refreshments, the city band discoursed selections of music.

"Well and Truly Laid."
The proceedings were opened by Mayor Hall, who called upon all those ladies present, belonging to the different societies instrumental in raising funds for the construction of the building, to sign their names to the scroll to be buried beneath the corner stone. A large number responded, representing the Daughters of Pitt, the King's Daughters, and the Alexandra Club. The scroll, together with a copy of each of the daily papers of Victoria, and a box of coins of different denominations, were then placed in the aperture, and upon them the corner stone was placed by Contractor Macdonald. Mrs. J. Dunsmuir, who was provided with a silver trowel, tapped the stone, and after placing the mortar in position, said:

"Mr Mayor, ladies and gentlemen, I have much pleasure in being here and taking part in a ceremony of this character. Everybody will realize the need of a building of this character, and will congratulate those who worked together with this end in view. I now declare this stone well and truly laid."

Mayor Hall then gave a brief address. He said it was very gratifying to the directors of the agricultural association that work upon this building should have been commenced. When Mrs. Richards interviewed the directors and asked them if such a building was possible, the scheme seemed to the directors to be out of the question. But Mrs. Richards and the other ladies of the city had got to work, and the scheme had grown to fruition. For many years the necessity of such a building had been acknowledged, but had it been left to the directors alone, it would have been impossible of accomplishment. By the time of the provincial fair the building would be completed. Through the ladies, and Mrs. Dunsmuir, who was loved by all, rich and poor, all of whom had worked harmoniously together, the work of commencing construction on the woman's building had been brought to a satisfactory conclusion.

After refreshments had been served those present dispersed.

Here and There

We hear so much in these days about the poverty in England that we are apt to look upon the great land-lords as very selfish class; indeed, this is in many cases a great injustice. The profits of the landowners are very far indeed from being as enormous as some people think. It is said that the man who now invests his money in an English estate does not make more than 2 per cent on his money. Yet small as the profits are the life is one enjoyed by the great majority of Englishmen. They love the country and enjoy the social distinction which the possession of an estate gives them.

On the other hand, a great many of the hereditary landlords take a very serious view of their responsibilities. They assist the farmers on their estates with loans of money in order that they may cultivate the land profitably and they pay very great attention to the social needs of their tenants.

Much has been said in the newspapers recently of the work of a Mr. Reitenhouse who was born near Jordan, in Lincoln. As a boy Mr. Reitenhouse came out to Chicago and made a fortune. He returned to his home and set to work to improve the conditions of the district. He built a model town hall and school, laid out an experimental farm, and in many ways showed the people how they could better their conditions. This, though, looked upon as wonderful philanthropy in a business man, is the kind of work very common among the best of English landowners. Foreign as the system of land-owning in England is to our ideas on this continent, its effects are not by any means all bad.

There are very few women so plain or so unattractive that on their wedding day they do not excite admiration and call forth the affection of all who know them. In the great majority of cases the girl who is about to enter upon a new life is followed by the best wishes of all who know her. What more natural than that the custom of giving wedding presents should be as ancient as time? And few customs have been productive of greater pleasure both to the giver and the receiver. To take into her new home some token of the love of those who have made childhood and girlhood happy is surely one of the delights of the day when mingled with the greatest joy there must be something of sadness. To be assured that in giving herself into the keeping of the one whom of all in the world she loves best she still retains the affection of those who are only less dear to her is a very precious thing. At such a time it is not always possible for reserved northern people to put into words what their hearts feel and so it has come about that the bride takes into her new home many tokens which shall remind her for years to come of those from whom, perhaps, she has been far separated. How often the sight it may be of some trifle which tells how well some dear friend understood the needs that would arise in the new home has brought to some a woman's heart a warm glow of pleasure.

It is, too, eminently fitting that the wedding present should give that touch of beauty and daintiness to the new home which women appreciate so much. The wedding ornament, the piece of needlework, the lovely plan or whatever else there may be that the taste and the means and above all, the love of the giver prompts are appropriate. It is just here that some of the modern giving wedding presents is a touch of criticism. To receive a gift from those who care nothing for us is belittling whether the receiver is a waiter at a hotel table or a bride at the altar. "The gift without the giver is bare," someone has said and nowhere is the saying more true than in the case of the wedding gift.

Not long ago a happy bride showed with a little tremble in her voice as she spoke of it, a quaint old fashioned "housewife," made for her by a dear old friend. It was easy to see that in the years to come this little gift would be treasured when such more beautiful and costly ones were forgotten.

Another bride, looking round her at the many costly and lovely gifts which friends from far and near had sent, said, with a suspicion of a sigh, "I have far more beautiful things for my home than ever my mother had." Yet her parents were wealthy, far more so than the handsome young man whose fortunes she was going to share. Were the friends who had furnished her with gifts too valuable to be fitting for the new home and who had prevented these two young people from selecting for themselves some of their household treasures?

On this subject the Boston Herald says some things that are worth thinking about.

"Wedding presents are often given gladly; they are often useful, or a source of pleasure for a lifetime. On the other hand they are often given by many grudgingly from a sense of compulsion. The accumulation is displayed on tables and walls for the guests to gaze at; when the silver table equipment, the silver ornaments, the costly remembrances of all sorts from a sumptuously bound first edition to a huge Japanese lantern for the summer home as yet unbuilt; when the gold and silver and precious stones and furniture and pictures and books and silks and fine linens and embroideries and parental checks, certified or uncashed, are piled together under the eyes of a detective, one gushing guest will say to another: "Arabella has everything she can possibly want in housekeeping. I don't see what she will do with all these things."

And therein lies the pity! The married lovers have nothing to do with the building or the furnishing of their nest. They do not know the joy of obtaining something useful or beautiful after making little economies, after mutual questioning: "Can we afford to buy this?" The girl who has been surrounded with every luxury, who has had every whim and longing gratified by thoughtless parents, marries one of her kind. Everything has been done for them. They have not been trained to do anything for themselves. Their only problem is one of how to find a new amusement. The extravagance of the wedding gift is a symbol of their life, which is first of all to be spectacular. Even when there is less splurge; there is still assurance of the future, a future in which there will be no joyful surprise. "Sweet is the butter by our hands churned," said the old homely English proverb. Too many husbands and wives of the present day do not know the pleasure of anticipation in saving. Too many are ignorant of the happiness that follows the acquisition of some picture, a set of books, some article of furniture, after uncomplaining self-denial.

There is nothing in the world more beautiful than the sight of a man and woman who have lived from youth to age together, and are still lovers. Such a pair were Alfred Tennyson and his wife Emily Selwood, whose romance lasted forty-two years. In the "Book News Monthly," Warwick James Rice tells the sweet story of their lives. He says:

"There is a story, too good not to be true, that he first came upon her ('The not impossible She'), walking in a grove, gray-clad (color favorite with her), and asked: 'Are you a dryad or an oread walking here?'"

What must he have looked to her, he who talked of oreads and dryads? Six feet high he stood, broad-chested and strong-limbed; his ample forehead crowned with dark, wavy hair, his head finely poised; his hand the admiration of sculptors, long fingers with square tips, soft as a child's, but of great size and strength. She, the personification of refined delicacy, the embodiment of reticence and strength; one finds not even in the ideal union of the Brownings "high contracting principals" more perfectly fitted to answer the demands of a pure romance of the heart.

The course of true love, however, in this case again, ran far from smooth. The engagement was interrupted in 1840 and all correspondence between the two forbidden, for there seemed scant prospect of their ever being married, owing to that unfortunately

Eternal want of pence

Which vexes public men.

But ten years later—in that golden year, 1850—they met once more, while Emily was visiting her cousins, the Rawleys, at Shipplake on the Thames. On the strength of the soon-to-be-published "In Memoriam" Moxon had promised Tennyson a small yearly royalty, and advanced £300 on account. With this, and their united small savings, the poet of forty-one and his sweetheart of thirty-seven were wedded on the thirteenth of June. It was the quietest ceremony imaginable; the cake and dresses arrived, indeed, but he who was to become laureate before the snow fell, found it, none the less, "the nicest marriage I ever attended."

Not was it to be the harmony of big days, "one wedding," to silence all at last. At Twickenham, down in Farringford, on the breezy uplands of rolling Surrey, the duet of their hearts was sung unbroken for forty-two years. It sounds in "Maud," which, after all, but teaches the lesson of love's reforming power, and again in the domestic touches of "Enoch Arden," and all through the poetic dramas, from "Queen Mary" on to "The Promise of May." When Tennyson wrote to Mary Boyle: "I verily believe the better heart of me beats stronger at seventy-four than at eighteen," he but bore witness to the happiness that had come into that great heart through the good woman who had lived with him for more than a generation. Emily Tennyson was the living, pulsing proof of her husband's words: "A good woman is a wondrous creature, cleaving to the right and the good in all change; lovely in her youthful comeliness, lovely all her life long in comeliness of heart."

How those two lived together during their long and happy married life none knew so well as their son Hallam. With an Englishman's reticence he says: "As a son I cannot allow myself full utterance about her whom I loved as perfect mother and 'very woman of woman,' and goes on to tell us of the ways in which she was his father's advisor in literary matters; 'I am proud of her intellect,' he wrote. With her he always discussed what he was working at; she transcribed his poems; to her and to no one else he referred for a final criticism before publishing. She with her 'tender, spiritual nature (my father's words), and instinctive nobility of thought, was always by his side, a ready, cheerful, courageous, wise, and sympathetic counsellor. It was she who shielded his sensitive spirit from the annoyances and trials of life, answering (for example) the innumerable letters addressed to him from all parts of the world. By her quiet sense of humor, by her self-devotion, by her clear as the heights of the June-blue heaven, she helped him also to the utmost in the hours of his depression and of his sorrow."

Peas and Pease.

Have you ever wondered when speaking or writing of the vegetable "pease" that sometimes it is spelled one way and at other times another? This is not a mistake, and, perhaps, a little unnecessary, but as it is a rule of our language we must conform until it be changed. A simple way is to remember that when you speak of a definite number of "peas" as "three peas," you spell it as we have there written it. When you wish to speak of the vegetable in bulk as by the bushel you spell it "pease."

Foilscape Paper
Doubtless many little folk who have had occasion to write upon foolscap at school have wondered why this quality of paper is thus called. The watermark gives the explanation, and a watermark, as every one knows is the maker's trademark, visible in the paper when a sheet is held up to the light. The watermark of foolscap is supposed to be a figure of Britannia supporting a cap of liberty on a pole. The assemblage of the cap of liberty to a dunce's cap led to the common use of the name which the brand of paper now bears.

Style of Belgian Crew.

The style of the Belgian crew, which set England topsy-turvy four years ago on the occasion of the first win by any eight from outside of England, has been the subject of much controversy, particularly since they won the trophy again this year. Joe Wright of the Toronto Argonauts probably hits it on the head when he says that the Nautique Grand eight was one that would likely win with any kind of a style. The main feature of their work is their tremendous leg drive, but unless they had the ability to do the driving doubtless their peculiar style would avail them but little.

The old controversy as to the respective merits of the English style of the short slide and the call upon the backs of the crew to furnish the power, and the Canadian way of a maximum slide and a minimum of back work, seems to have been successfully solved by the Belgians, who have adopted a medium slide throwing the main weight on the leg drive.

Removed by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winnipeg, Man.—"Eleven years ago I went to the Victoria Hospital, Montreal, suffering with a growth in the uterus. The doctor said it was a tumor, and could not be removed, as it would cause instant death. They found that other organs were affected and said I could not live more than six months in the condition I was in. After I came home I saw your advertisement in the paper and commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it constantly for two years, and still take it at times, and both my husband and myself claim that it was the means of saving my life. I highly recommend it to suffering women."

Mrs. ORILLA BRADLEY, 284 Johnson Ave., Winnipeg, Manitoba.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy, tumor. If you have mysterious pains, inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait for time to confirm your fears and go through the horrors of a hospital operation, but try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills.

BIG ATTRACTION FOR LONDON

Professional Olympic Games to Be Title of Fall Athletic Carnival

London, July 22.—As the Olympic games of London, 1908, was the greatest gathering of amateur athletes ever witnessed, so will the "Professional Olympic Games, London, 1909"—as the promoters propose to call the event—be the greatest assembly, if it goes through, of runners, cyclists, boxers and wrestlers ever brought together for one meeting. It will be a grand carnival of professional sport, and it is to be sincerely hoped that no untoward circumstances will arise to prevent its realization.

An "international syndicate" of great financial possibilities has made offer to Mr. Imrie Kiralfy of £10,000 as rental of the Stadium for one week during the latter part of August or September.

The programme is already practically arranged, and most of the men named therein have actually agreed to terms offered them for their participation. It will surprise many to learn that two of the events contemplate a return engagement between Frank Gotch and George Hackenschmidt, and a twenty-round contest between Jack Johnson and Stanley Ketchel, who are matched to fight in California in October. There will be a Marathon race, the following being willing to sign: Hayes, Dorando, St. Yves, Svanberg, Longboat, Simpson, Maloney and Cibot. The prize for this alone will be £2,000. A six-days' go-as-you-please race, a week's cycle endurance race, swimming events, tug-of-war, and other field sports. A match will probably be found for Jim Driscoll.

Never has there been framed such a series of world-interesting events to take place under one management, and at one time. The venture depends of course upon the securing of the Stadium, as London has no other place equally suited to such a scheme.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT AT VANCOUVER

Tyler and Macrae Win But
 Miss Ryan and Hopper Lose
 Mixed Doubles

Vancouver, July 22.—Bright sunny weather again greeted the players as the fourth day's play in the Vancouver Lawn Tennis Club's tournament commenced this afternoon. A large crowd of tennis enthusiasts came back again to see the semi-finals, and keen interest was shown in every event. The ladies again served tea and refreshments in the clubhouse.

In the men's singles, Coles, of Vancouver, put Wilbur, of Portland, out of the running, beating him straight sets 6-3, 6-0. B. Rhodes, of Vancouver, beat D. S. Montgomery, of Vancouver, 6-0, 6-0. Joe Tyler, of Spokane, easily beat Car Hilton, of Vancouver, by 6-4, 6-1.

Another surprise was in the mixed doubles, when Coles and Miss Bell, of Vancouver, beat Hopper, of Los Angeles, and Miss Ryan, of California, 7-5, 8-6, and the match proved one of the best of the day.

In the men's doubles, Joe Tyler, of Spokane, and Macrae, of Westminster, beat Burns and Charleson, both of Vancouver, 6-1, 6-0. E. N. Gilliat and A. E. Jukes beat B. Rhodes and J. B. Farquhar, all of Vancouver, 7-5, 5-7, 7-5. This was not expected, as the defeated had put Anderson and Wilbur, of Portland, out very easily.

One week from tomorrow the local lacrosse twelve go to Westminster to play the second division team of the Royal City.

The Y. M. C. A. Swimming Club held handicap swims at the Gorge camp every Friday.

One hundred and fourteen lacrosse teams in the Winnipeg school league. That represents 1,368 actual players, to say nothing of reserves. Think of the players being developed in the prairie city.

The A. A. U. championship meet, which takes place at Seattle on August 13 and 14, will be the biggest athletic attraction pulled off on the coast in many years. All the champions will be there.

North Ward nine plays the High school this evening at the North Ward park in the local intermediate baseball series.

SHOTGUN EXPERTS AT
 TRAP TOURNAMENT

Buffalo, N. Y., July 22.—The Eastern Handicap, the final and chief event of the interstate association's fourth eastern trap shooting tournament, which has been in progress here for the past three days, was won this afternoon by H. E. Smith, an hitherto laureless amateur from Columbus, Ohio, who broke 98 out of 100 targets at a distance of 18 yards. Second place was taken by the well-known professional, W. R. Crosby, of Oradell, Ill., who scored 97 from 21 yards. Second among the amateurs was F. D. Pelletier, of Mount Clemens, Mich., who from 13 yards scored 96. Third amateur was H. I.

Winnipeg, July 22.—A meeting of the executive committee of the Western Canada Baseball League will be held at Medicine Hat Monday, when important business matters will be discussed. Chief among these will be the discussion of a proposed new schedule of games.

Though the league is yet in pretty good standing, many of the teams have not been getting the backing from the public that they think they deserve, and as the expenses are very high on account of the long trips it is more than likely that a new schedule will have to be drafted. The trip from Winnipeg as far west as Lethbridge, entails considerable expense.

With a view to lessening the expenses several proposals will be made at the meeting to be held Monday. One of these is that the teams be divided into two divisions, East and West, giving them the same standing as they now have and the winner of each division playing a post series of games at the end of the season for the championship. The western division would be comprised of Edmonton, Calgary, Medicine Hat and Lethbridge while the eastern division would take in Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina and Moose Jaw.

SIBERIAN EXILES
 ESCAPED BY RUSE

Landed at Nome by Impersonating
 Cossacks Sent to Recapture
 Them

News comes from Nome that twenty escaped Russian convicts from Siberia have made their way into Alaska by a ruse, having impersonated Cossacks. They duped the captains of ships along the shores of Siberia into carrying them to the American side. They told the officers of the ship that they were pursuing a number of convicts who had made their way across the strait.

This story was gleaned from fifteen deported Russians, who were trying to re-enter Alaska at Teller, York and Port Clarence. The convicts were arrested Saturday and informed the authorities that the twenty other fugitives from the Yakuts district, who defeated a company of Cossacks in the battle of March 13 and crossed 1,500 miles of Siberian wastes to East Cape, had impressed the deported Russians upon being landed at East Cape by the steamer Vaarge and compelled them to assist in crossing the strait.

The escaped convicts impersonated Russian Cossacks pursuing fleeing exiles and in this way induced the natives to give them assistance.

The revenue cutter Thetis has gone north to apprehend the convicts and other deported paupers.

On July 1 the Russian steamer Vaarge arrived here with 300 immigrants from Vladivostok. Half of these were paupers and were ordered deported by Customs Inspector Beegle, who at the same time fined the steamer $1,000. The Vaarge sailed for Siberia July 9, stopping at East Cape to unload the deported Russians. When the paupers were landed they impressed native boats to cross the strait. Capt. Bernard, who was trading at East Cape, witnessed the seizure of the boat and escaped a similar fate by sailing to Nome, where he reported the affair.

It was the seizure of these boats that was engineered by the escaping convicts, told of by the deported Russians apprehended at Teller, York and Port Clarence.

The local officials are awaiting instructions from Washington before taking final action.

There is a chance that a strong soccer team from British Columbia will make a barn-storming tour through California next October. An invitation to organize and put such a team on the road has been received by Will Ellis, of Vancouver, the promoters of the Portola festival in San Francisco being the inviters.

Vancouver Expects to Defeat
Champions at Lacrosse on Latter's Home Grounds

MORESBY AND CULLIN
TO OFFICIATE

Alderman Tom O'Connell's Bill
for Refereeing Tecumseh
Series Is $250

According to advices received from the Mainland, Victoria may be the scene of one of the scheduled Westminster-Vancouver lacrosse matches before many weeks have elapsed.

It is the intention of the heads of the British Columbia Lacrosse League to try and arrange a match on this side of the water between the two great teams, not as a money-making proposition, but merely to try and arouse the lacrosse interest that prevailed in Victoria a few years ago. If the Mainland people can break even on the venture and defray the actual expenses of bringing the two teams over here, they will be perfectly contented. If final arrangements are made, the game played here will not be simply an exhibition match, but a regular league game, with the world's championship at stake.

Tomorrow, at Westminster, the two bitter Mainland rivals will meet in what is expected to be a hummer right from the first sound of the whistle. Con Jones' twelve will go down to the Royal City determined to win, while the Westminster team, although in a crippled condition, will put up a determined struggle as this home game means an awful lot to them. There are five more games to be played, and if the Terminal City twelve win all of them, the Minto Cup will take a trip to Vancouver; if they win four of the games, both teams will be tied, and an additional series will be played.

The management of the Westminster team is still sore at the former trustees of the Minto Cup for having appointed Ald. Tom O'Connell one of the referees in the recent Tecumseh-Westminster Minto Cup series.

Mr. O'Connell's bill was received yesterday, calling for $250 in real money; and no wonder the Fraser river folks kick, as this is an enormous amount to pay a referee for lacrosse matches. At present it is considered the distance O'Connell had to travel to act as official, some allowance can be made. After the concluding game at Westminster, the eastern alderman was offered a cheque for $50, which he refused to accept. Now he is after the former trustees of the cup to come through. That claim that the champions either donate the stipulated amount or the cup will be given to the Tecumseh; this will probably cause the Salmon Bellies to pay the expense account that has been filed.

W. Moersby and W. H. Cullin, the two local men who have been decided upon as officials for tomorrow's game will leave for the Terminal City on tonight's boat.

NORTH WARDS MEET
HIGH SCHOOL TONIGHT

This evening at the North Ward grounds, the High School nine will meet the North Ward nine in the local intermediate series. There is quite a lot of talk lately of the North Wards winning out in this series, since the fast Beacon Hill nine were defeated by the Prides on Wednesday evening. If the Wards can get busy and win a few games in succession, they will be able to climb up to the top of the league before the season is over, as there are a great many games to be played yet. The High School nine have been practising right along, and if they should win out in tonight's game they will be tied with the Beacon Hills for first place.

The intermediate league will prove to be very interesting before the balance of this evening's game there will be quite a shift in the league.

EASTERN CRITICS
PRAISE BEASLEY

Local Boy Deserves Great Credit for Showing Made at Winnipeg

Speaking of Harry Beasley, the local Y. M. C. A. athlete, the Winnipeg Free Press says:

The feature of the boy's events was the performance of H. B. Beasley, of Victoria, who won the 100 yards in 10 2-5 seconds, 220 yards in 24 seconds, 440 yards in 54 seconds and the running broad jump at 18 ft. 4 1-2 in. For a lad of 17 any one of these is a remarkable performance, and when they are all accomplished on the same day it is so much the more creditable. Beasley is a slim youngster, standing 5 ft. 7 in., and weighing only 109 pounds. This is his third season on the running path, and he has already made a big name for himself in his native town, Victoria, where he is looked upon, and with reason, as a coming world-beater. This year he has carried everything before him in the junior events, his best performances being 23 3-5 for 220 yards, 54 seconds for the quarter and 18 ft. 8 in. for the running broad jump. Last year at Westminster fair he ran a mile in 5 minutes 10 seconds, and he has run three miles in 18 minutes 19 seconds. The prizes he has already won include four cups and ten medals, and more silverware is expected to become his property at the Island championships and the British Columbia championships in August.

Beasley has an eye to the future, however, and does not intend to spoil his chances of becoming a senior champion by running himself to death while he is growing. At present he trains only twice a week, and after this season he will rest for a year, taking up the game again after he has passed his nineteenth year. Beasley comes of good athletic stock, his father having been a famous mile runner and walker at Toronto in his day.

Secretary Gray, of the J. B. A. A., received a phone message from Duncan last evening to have the J. B. A. A. baseball nine go up tomorrow afternoon on the 3 o'clock train and play in the evening at that town.

It was at first arranged to have the ball team go up on the morning train and return to Victoria Saturday evening. It will in all probability be arranged to have the boys go up on the afternoon instead as J. Gidley is arranging a swell dance that will be superior to the one arranged when the J. B. A. A. were up a few weeks ago. Those who will make the trip are McMillmoyle, Gregg, Hughes, Brown, Shanks, Brooker, Winsby, Gray, Hepcock, White, and a bunch of rooters.

ready to quit at any time, but most people believed he would stick with the fight until the end of the season, at least. Judging from the report from Spokane, he intends to cut down his salary list and go along indifferently from now on.

With his team in the second division and the gate receipts falling off, things are not so rosy for Dickson as last year. But if there ever was a lucky manager it was this same boy manager. Besides drawing the biggest crowds last season, he realized on three of his players. Ham Hyatt and Pat Flanagan were sold to the big leagues for $1,500 each, while Munderoff brought $500 from the Coast league.

Good Card at Willows Yesterday—To Aid Anti-Tuberculosis Society

La Taranta, the brown gelding, belonging to F. H. Pierce, proved his consistency, when he beat a fairly good field in the fourth race at the Oak Bay track yesterday afternoon, and celebrated his third successive victory at the meeting.

The race which was at seven furlongs was the feature of the card. La Taranta laid in a nice position behind the leaders for the first six furlongs, when Riley let him down, and running over his field the gelding won going away. Firm Foot, away last, gradually worked his way up and outgunning Sam McGibben did just manage to get the place. The owner of La Taranta did not profit much by the victory of his gelding, as he had to protect him to the tune of $200 when bid up by L. W. Sears.

Incentive, which has been knocking at the door for some time found a soft spot in the first race which he took rather cleverly. The Butte gelding jumped into the lead and soon opened up a gap which he maintained throughout, winning in a mild drive by a length and a half. Lord Rossington left the barrier in slow fashion but he gradually closed up and shaking off Col. Bronston on the last turn got the place with ease. Col. Bronston was an easy third. Be Brief had all he could do to beat Lady's Beauty in the second race. The two named raced like a team almost the entire distance with the riders of both booting like demons. Be Brief, however, was somewhat the best, and managed to outstay the Cain mare and get the verdict by a short head. Mr. Bishop, slow to begin, made up a world of ground and took show money. Zick Abrams showed a flash of early speed and then subsided. Footloose had no chance with the ride.

The third race resulted in another close finish, when Medora, Josie S. and Beautiful and Best reached the wire heads apart. Coburn, on Medora, hustled his mount to the front at the start and kept her there all the way. In the last few yards Medora tired perceptibly and Josie S. coming like a whirlwind was gaining on her at every stride. The Schreiber filly got the verdict by a slight margin but in another jump Josie S. would have won. Beautiful and Best was an easy third.

Miller's Daughter took the fifth race rather handsily by two open lengths with My Bouquet second and Kelowna third. The latter ran prominently for seven furlongs and then quit. The

LACROSSE PRACTICE
AT ATHLETIC PARK

That the Victoria club will have a rather strong team to go to the Royal City a week from the coming Saturday is evidenced by the way the local players have been turning out to practice.

On Monday evening Captain Stiles had over fifteen of the local pillars of lacrosse on the green at the Royal Athletic, and each and every player was out for some work, in view of the fact that they have all had a good rest. Julian and McArthur, the two newcomers to Victoria, are a welcome addition to the local, and will be in the line-up of the Victoria when they make the trip to the banks of the Fraser.

Another practice will be held this evening as well as on Sunday morning, and next week the local talent will work out on Monday, Wednesday, the committee on play, consisting of Alex. Monteith, Skene Lowe and Ab. McDonald will commence to select the team that is to travel after the practice on Wednesday evening.

It is to be hoped that the Victoria stick-wielders will turn out in full force this evening, so as to give the committee-on-play a chance to get a line on the condition of all intending players.

Game Called Off.

The Albion C. C. have received a telegram from Seattle C. C. saying that they will be unable to come over on Saturday, 24th.

Vancouver Tennis.

Vancouver, July 22.—Only two games were played in the lawn tennis tournament for the Mainland British Columbia championships at the Vancouver Club courts this morning. In the singles, L. H. Toole beat B. Rhodes 6-3, 6-4, while in the men's doubles, H. S. Coles and W. M. Griffin won from E. N. Gillat and A. E. Jukes by a score of 6-2, 6-4.

Alf Shubb will make his appearance on the coast in a very short time.

Entries are coming in fast for the Vancouver Island championships, billed to take place on August 7.

The North America Y. M. C. A. championships will be started today at Seattle finale tomorrow.

IS ONTARIO THE
WHOLE OF CANADA

British Columbia Oarsman
Cannot Row at "National"
Regatta

Charlie Laing, the Vancouver sculler did not leave for the east last night as expected, to compete in the Canadian Henley regatta at St. Catharines next week, and unless the stewards of the Canadian Association of Amateur Oarsmen experience a change of heart, he will not go. The entry of Laing was wired east by the secretary of the Vancouver Rowing club, but an answer came back yesterday that the entry could not be accepted as the Vancouver club is not a member of the C. A. A. O.

The Vancouver Rowing club is a member of the North Pacific Association of Amateur Oarsmen, which, though recognized by all the governing amateur bodies, is not affiliated with the eastern rowing association. Though technically the C. A. A. O. is probably right in refusing Laing's entry, the fact that he is in good standing with the amateur unions on this way should be enough to ensure his entry being accepted. The aim of the Canadian Henley is to produce a national regatta, but if the C. A. A. O. persists in such shortsighted methods that idea will be a long time in developing. This is the first time Vancouver has ever had an entry for the eastern regatta and it is a pity that it has been turned down.

Entries close for the Victoria tennis championship meet on Friday evening with Secretary Talbot. The tourney will be held next week.

The Canadian Henley regatta will be held on July 30 and 31.

Bat Nelson will strike Seattle next week. He will spar with Kid Herman at the A.-Y.-P.

Victoria West juvenile lacrosse team came to the front last evening when they defeated North Ward juveniles by a score of 15 to 3.

CAPTAIN AND APPRENTICE LOST

Two Were Swept Overboard Off Cape Horn From the British Ship Edenmore

The British ship Edenmore, which has arrived at Greenock with a cargo of wheat from Talcahuano, Chili, had a hard time off Cape Horn. The vessel shipped a tremendous sea, which washed Captain Jones (a native of Fishguard) and an apprentice, boy named Hennessy, of Cork, overboard, both being drowned. The sea also gutted the cabin, and washed everything that was in the after part of the vessel overboard, including the compasses.
